Baltinache Lagoons

The approach to the lagoons crosses tracks within the Salt Mountain Range (Cordillera de la Sal). The visit focuses on the saline water, its vibrant colors, and the expansive landscape. Any opportunity for floating in the water is permitted only in designated areas and under conditions authorized by the site administration.

Your itinerary

Approach via an unpaved track.

We depart from San Pedro toward the group of lagoons. The access route described includes a 30 km stretch on an unpaved track; this refers to the vehicle journey, not a walking distance or the total round-trip distance from the hotel.

Lagoon circuit.

We explore the designated areas on foot to observe the varying water colors, salt formations, and the surrounding mineral landscape. The guide explains why these bodies of water differ from the arid landscape that surrounds them.

Floating (if permitted).

When the site allows swimming-and this is included in your booking-we will dedicate time to this activity. Access to the water is not guaranteed simply by visiting the lagoons; all local rules and regulations must be followed.

Refreshments and return.

The morning session includes coffee, snacks, and drinks; the afternoon session may include an aperitif. Before returning to the hotel, we will coordinate time for changing clothes and address any necessary logistics if a swimming activity took place.
