PRIVATE EXPERIENCE / ENGLISH

Géiseres Blancos · a Desert Night

An overnight camping experience near the "White Geysers" (Géiseres Blancos), located south of the El Tatio area-as specified by Ernesto. This experience combines high-altitude landscapes, dinner, and a visit to a geothermal site, with all necessary permits and camping logistics arranged in advance.

Your itinerary

Approach via the high plateau (altiplano).

The transfer may include stops near Machuca or at high-altitude wetlands, depending on the specific program. We maintain a respectful distance from local wildlife and arrive at the authorized camping area with ample time to get settled.

Setting up camp and enjoying the evening landscape.

We prepare our sleeping area and a meal. Please note that this experience does not offer hotel-style amenities, heating, or access to bathing facilities at every geothermal spring; specific services and equipment provided are detailed prior to booking.

Dinner and overnight stay

We share the planned dinner and spend the night at high altitude. Proper clothing and prior acclimatization are essential; simply spending a few hours in a vehicle does not guarantee sufficient adjustment to the altitude.

Morning and return

Following breakfast, the "historical" itinerary includes a visit to the El Tatio geysers before the return trip. The cycling option must be booked separately; it is not automatically included as part of the excursion package.

DURATION

2 days · 1 night
