PRIVATE EXPERIENCE / ENGLISH

Territory & Communities

An approach to the inhabited territory of the Atacama, prepared with respect for the local communities and their own pace of life. Caspana, Talabre, and Río Grande are documented options; these are not offered as a combined tour, nor is access to private homes guaranteed.

Your itinerary

Choosing a location and an encounter.

We coordinate the village and potential activities with available hosts. The proposal specifies which visits are open to the public and which require prior authorization.

Exploring the inhabited landscape.

We walk through designated areas to understand the relationship between water, crops, architecture, and pastoral life. The guide provides context without turning the daily lives of others into a spectacle.

Sharing experiences as per the program.

A meal or an overnight stay in local accommodation may be part of your booked experience. Details regarding availability, comfort, and the nature of your participation will be explained before confirmation.

Return or onward journey.

The program concludes with a return trip or a connection to another stage of your itinerary. Photographing people, homes, or activities requires permission; meeting a specific host cannot be guaranteed.
