PRIVATE EXPERIENCE / ENGLISH

Monturaqui Crater

An excursion to the Monturaqui crater to view an impact site set within the desert landscape. The day includes travel along dirt tracks, an observational walk, and a meal break before the return trip.

Your itinerary

Approaching through the desert

The vehicle travels toward the crater area via designated access routes. Stops along the way help provide a sense of scale and context for the impact site within the landscape; please note that the specific route may vary depending on trail conditions.

Exploring the crater

We take a walk through the permitted areas. The guide explains how to distinguish the depression from the surrounding terrain and what features help reveal its origin.

Walking and photography

There is time to explore different perspectives from the outside and from designated vantage points. Collecting rocks or fragments is not permitted; the visit is focused on observing the site while keeping its elements intact.

Lunch and Return

Lunch is served at a suitable spot along the route. We return to San Pedro via the planned route; the program does not include camping or an overnight stay at the crater.
